

The below language is a recommendation only. You should not add this to your contract until your lawyer and your insurance company looks at and approves this language, as they are the folks that have to defend your contract in court.

I have decided to purchase Renter's Collision Protection available through this rental car company for _____ per day, including a service charge.

I understand that this product will pay for any damage done to this rental vehicle with a $250.00 deductible, as long as any additional authorized drivers or I do not violate this contract.

I have read and understand the terms and conditions of the Renter's Collision Protection, as printed on the Brief Description of Coverage brochure given to me by the rental agent.
